Beth D'Addono, Second Vice President – New Orleans Chapter

Beth D'Addono is a freelance food and travel writer obsessed with flavor, culture, street music, and cocktails — with New Orleans at the center of it all. She writes for The Local Palate, Eater, AAA Traveler, Country Roads, and Louisiana Cookin', and covers new restaurants weekly for Gambit New Orleans. Her latest book, City Eats New Orleans, features chef profiles and 50 step-by-step recipes from the city's best restaurants. Her book 100 Things To Do in New Orleans Before You Die offers an authentic experience for locals, transplants, and visitors alike.