Kate Howell - London Chapter

Kate Howell is a strategic communications adviser and non-executive director specialising in food, hospitality, place and purpose-led brands. She spent 12 years on the senior leadership team at Borough Market, helping shape one of the world's most respected food destinations through periods of major growth and change. Her earlier career was in UK Government communications. Kate advises organisations on reputation, storytelling and stakeholder strategy, and serves on boards and advisory groups focused on food systems, community and culture.