Nancy Vienneau, Chapter Board Liaison – Nashville Chapter

A nearly-native Nashvillian, Nancy Vienneau is a chef, recovered caterer, and food writer who pivoted to journalism after selling A Matter of Taste, her full-service catering company of twenty years, in 2005. From 2009 to 2022, she covered Nashville's burgeoning restaurant scene as a reviewer for The Tennessean. She continues to write for The Local Palate, Southern Living, Nashville Lifestyles, and Nfocus. Nancy is also the author of Third Thursday Community Potluck Cookbook, published by HarperCollins, inspired by a community potluck she co-hosted in Nashville for seven years.
